This is an anthology of animation works by the MA Fine Art students, reflecting on their different practices and cultural backgrounds using various methods and strategies of production both digital and analogue. Their chosen approaches to production are practically and conceptually appropriate to how they are positioning their work in space and time. This technology of representations is the site in which each artist creates their own idiosyncratic space of imaginary. It pertains to diverse subject matters and touches upon various social, and political concerns.

The Animation Project is lead and facilitated by Nooshin Farid.
